Flavie Moignoux

The embodiment of kindness and gentleness.

Flavie was one of my most remarkable encounters among all the vendors for our wedding. From the outset, I was moved by her kindness, attentiveness, and the genuine interest she demonstrates in each of her clients.

The trial session is meticulously prepared: every detail is considered. Flavie takes the time to inquire about our skincare routines, the products we favor or dislike, those with which we feel at ease, and our preferred music. It is evident that she aims to craft a genuinely personalized beauty treatment that embodies our individuality, all within an environment that promotes relaxation and well-being.

On our wedding day, she arrived with thoughtful details and small gifts selected specifically for us, a gesture that profoundly moved me. Beyond that, Flavie possesses a remarkable ability to cultivate an atmosphere of peace and tranquility. While applying makeup, her soothing voice, kindness, and presence genuinely envelop those in her care. It is an extraordinary experience: a timeless moment that significantly aids in approaching the day with serenity.

For all these reasons, coupled with her undeniable talent for makeup, I wholeheartedly endorse Flavie. Her remarkable kindness, impeccable professionalism, and authentic warmth will ensure that your makeup application is as beautiful as the remainder of your day.

Consequently, I recommend reaching out to me as soon as your date is confirmed so we can discuss your requirements.

Which cosmetics do you utilize?

My essentials feature brands such as Chanel, Guerlain, Dior, Lancôme, Nars, Charlotte Tilbury, and MAC Cosmetics.

On which date will the makeup trial occur?

The trial is a crucial phase in refining your makeup to the finest detail. I suggest arranging it one to three months prior to your event. This tailored appointment generally lasts between two and two and a half hours, fully devoted to crafting your bespoke makeup appearance.
